

David blows a global storm

RIDGEY DIDGE

WORDS: LAURA BUTTIGIEG

DIDGERIDOO player David Williams jettied into San Francisco last month to celebrate the launch of Qantas' direct flights from Sydney to the United States city.

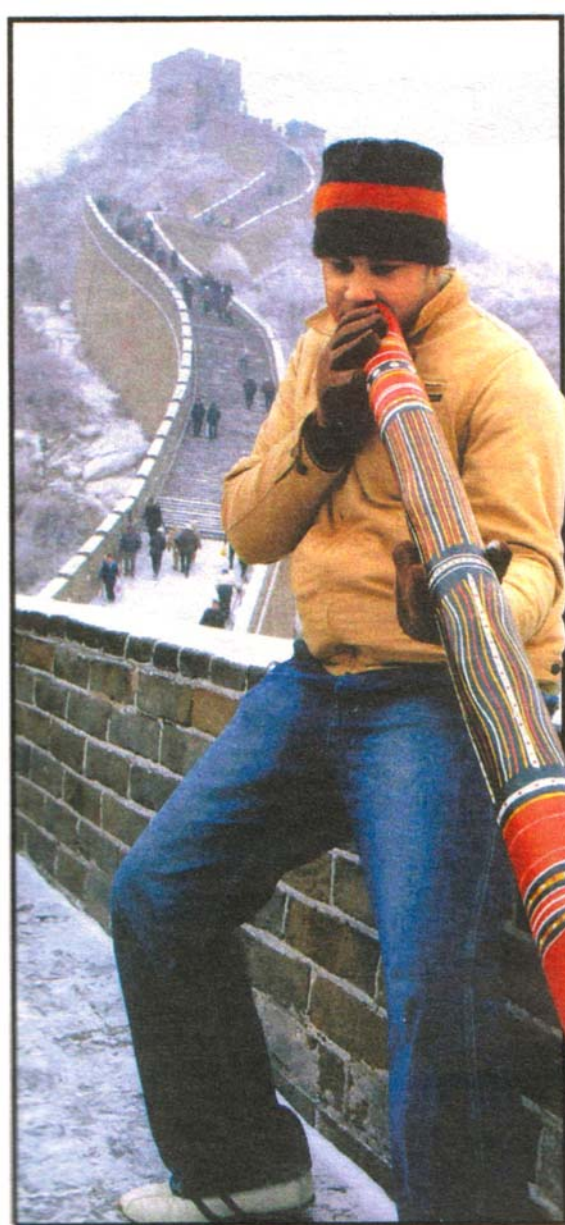

Williams, of Petrie Tce, was hand-picked to perform at a gala dinner in the city of the Golden Gate Bridge, where he joined Australian singer Bernadette Robinson.

The 23-year-old also joined special guest and Qantas goodwill ambassador John Travolta before performing at the Napa Valley for a lunch hosted by Boeing.

Williams said the performance was another highlight of his musical career after he performed for Qantas in Beijing in January and at Qantas' 85th birthday celebrations last November.

Williams is also an international Aboriginal artist with works exhibited in Sweden, England, Italy and Germany.

Williams was born in Rockhampton and is a descendant of the Wakka Wakka people.

TRAVEL MATES: David Williams and his didge.